

Do you spend too much time
wrestling with computers,
and not enough doing research?

We can help

Software Carpentry offers short workshops to teach researchers tools and techniques that will help them use computers more productively.

Topics	Unix Shell Version Control Testing	Python Databases Numerical Programming
Requirements	Participants must have some prior programming experience. Our materials work on Linux, Mac OS X, and Windows. All content is freely reusable under a Creative Commons license.
To Learn More	Web: http://software-carpentry.org Email: info@software-carpentry.org Twitter: @swcarpentry

See <http://software-carpentry.org/bootcamps/> to find a workshop near you.